Toboggan Slide Completed at Lake Antioch

Firemen Put on Finishing Touches by Icing the 300-ft. Slide

Complete and ready for use by the public is the toboggan slide that has been erected on the east slope at Lake Antioch, where the game refuge has been turned into a recreation area for the winter months. Even last week the scene was being visited by eager toboggan enthusiasts who will now have the opportunity to try it out.

It has a runway of about 300 yards before it reaches the lake. Toboggans that went down it on trial runs this week shot half-way across the lake, carrying their passengers a third of a mile.

Snow for the toboggan run was hauled by Carl Barthel, township highway commissioner, who was assisted by Ray Sorenson and Arthur Trieger. The job of icing the toboggan slide was carried out by Antioch firemen.

Toboggans and passengers can be hauled up-hill by cars on a nearby road. The slide is open to the general public, free of charge, and visitors from other communities may use it, it is announced.

Begin Ski Slide

Work is now being started on a ski slide on the west slope. Snow to supplement what is already on the hill will be hauled in, and a ski runway is to be built up. The co-operation of visitors to the recreation area, in refraining from driving automobiles too near the parts set aside for skiing and tobogganing is being asked.

The values of a winter sports program for Antioch, in dividends of fun, health and good-will, have been stressed by a number of public-minded residents who have been active in promoting the idea, among them being H. A. Smith of the First National bank, as a representative of business people of the community; the Rev. F. M. Flaherty, who has given permission for use of some of the property; R. H. Childers, athletic coach at the high school, various individuals and business concerns who have given helpful co-operation.

A wave of interest in winter sports appears to have swept over the Antioch region. Resort owners report crowds for skiing, tobogganing and other outdoor sports, and a growing belief in Antioch as a winter sport area seems to be circulating.

Firemen Are Measured For New Uniforms

Entertained at Dinner at "The Roundup" as Guests of A. K. Muellers

Thirty members of the Antioch Fire department were measured for new uniforms at a meeting held Tuesday evening in "The Roundup."

In connection with the meeting, the firemen were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Mueller, proprietors of "The Roundup," at a four-course fried shrimp dinner, which was served at 8 o'clock.

Otto S. Klass was in charge of the measuring for uniforms, which will be paid for out of a fund the fire department has raised for that purpose through benefit entertainments and other methods.

To Attend Benefit

The giving of committee reports and a brief business session were also features of the evening.

All firemen will be on hand to assist in the Finnish benefit basketball game to be held in the Antioch High School gymnasium Feb. 2.

Schultz-Hahn Legion Post Plans Installation

Officers of Schultz-Hahn American Legion post to be installed at their next meeting in the village club rooms at Salem include Roy Swenson, Camp Lake, as commander; Joseph Goff, Bristol, vice-commander; Milton Radtitz, Salem, adjutant; William Richter, Silver Lake, finance officer; Joseph Maleski, Bristol, sergeant-at-arms, and John A. Smith, Bristol, service officer.

State Commander Frank L. Greenya and State Adjutant Gil Stordock, of Milwaukee, have been invited to attend the installation.

ANNOUNCE MORE DONATIONS FOR FINNISH RELIEF

Mayor George B. Bartlett, local chairman for the Finnish Relief fund drive, today announced additional contributions from Antioch as follows:

Nels O. Nelson	$2.00
Mrs. John Murray	.50
American History Class, Antioch Twp. H. S.	3.50
Previously reported	109.00

Total to date.....$115.00

Former president Herbert Hoover, national chairman, has set Feb. 1 as the closing date of the drive and it is hoped that all contributions will have been received before that date. To the personal contribution expected during the week will be added the proceeds of Antioch Lions-Winneconne basketball game here February 2.

"Winter Fun" Proves Success At Resort Here

Toboggan Slide at Steitz' Place Thronged; Others Plan Features

Antioch, with its surrounding lakes, has long been recognized as a summer playground, but now "Antioch the winter playground" is beginning to draw the attention of sports lovers.

Among the pioneers in this new field is John Steitz, whose toboggan slide attracted more than 100 visitors to Steitz' Place on Bluff lake last Sunday.

The slide at Steitz' is fast and speedy enough for a real thrill, and the natural slope provides momentum enough to carry the toboggans half-way across the lake.

For the return trip up hill steps have been made so as to provide for a gradual climb.

"The slide is open to the public for enjoyment, and there is no admission or other price charged," Mr. and Mrs. Steitz announce. "Everyone is welcome," they add, "to come and bring their friends—today, tomorrow and every day."

The cold weather and snow, instead of isolating the resorts around Antioch, appear to be stimulating an influx of toboggan parties, skaters and skiers, all bent on enjoying winter fun at the lakes.

Ideal Natural Locale

An abundance of hillsides, lakes, bluffs and other natural resources helps to make Antioch an ideal winter resort locale, it is said by sports authorities, while fine highways make it accessible from many large cities nearby.

Besides the merry throngs tobogganing at Steitz' Place, other evidences of the new interest in snow-time sports are the public winter recreation center being constructed at Lake Antioch. Through the generosity of public-spirited Antioch citizens and business concerns a toboggan slide is being erected and a ski slide is being planned.

At Wilmet Hills, the new ski slide cleared by Walter T. Stopa of Chicago drew 150 skiers on Saturday and 300 on Sunday.

The annual ice carnival being planned at Twin Lakes is another feature of winter-time activity around the lakes.

Open Bridge on Highway 12

Complete except for a permanent hand-rail (a temporary one will be used until spring), the new bridge on Highway 12 between Richmond and Fox Lake has been opened to traffic. The bridge has all modern safety features, including a 44-foot roadway and two five-foot sidewalks.

Basketball Game to Benefit Relief Fund For Finns

Lions to Play Winneconne Feb. 2; Two Girls' Teams Booked

R. G. Holtz, manager of the Antioch Lions basketball team, announces that he has completed arrangements for a double-feature basketball game to be held in the Antioch High School gymnasium Friday evening, Feb. 2, at 7:45 o'clock. All money received will be turned over to the Finnish Relief fund under the charge of Village President George B. Bartlett.

A team composed of all-star players from Winneconne, Wis., will be the Lions' opponent on this occasion. The game will be a return engagement for one between the two teams last year at Winneconne. About 35 Winneconne business people plan to accompany the team on the trip down here, and will be over-night guests in Antioch.

Two all-star girls' teams will be featured in the opening game on the double program. Booked through John Cankar of Waukegan, they are made up of stellar players from St. Anne's and St. Mary's parishes of Waukegan. Both teams are considered as being among the highest-ranking girls' basketball groups of Lake county.

Tickets, for which a charge of only 35 cents is being made, may be secured in advance at King's and Reeves' drug stores, Otto Klass' store, Ted's Sweet shop, or the Antioch News office. They will also be available at the box office.

Herb Crandall is reported to be recovering from an attack of bronchial pneumonia. He has been in Victory Memorial hospital for the past several days.

THE WATCHMAN ON THE JOB

Research Holds Secret of Progress, Speaker Tells Lions

Pres. Heald of Armour Tech. Makes Interesting Talk at Dinner

The solution of the problem of unemployment lies with the individual rather than with the various governmental, private or semi-governmental agencies, according to President Henry T. Heald, of the Armour Institute of Technology, who addressed the Antioch Lions dinner meeting at the Ball hotel here Monday evening.

President Heald's subject was "Youth and Industry," and he gave an enlightening talk on the myriad opportunities that await properly qualified youths in the field of engineering and scientific research. Among the millions now unemployed in the United States, there are between four and five million young men between the ages of 16 and 24, Dr. Heald said, and with these young men rests the responsibility of opening up new fields of endeavor, creating more employment and making life more livable for all. What our ancestors regarded as luxuries, or mere toys, are now considered indispensable in modern life; so in the future in line with continual progress better things for better living will be added and become necessities. The important role of technology in this never-ending progress is obvious.

Employment a Personal Problem While President Heald's address was not in any sense political, he pointed out by cold logical inference rather than with direct argument, the fallacy of seeking to absorb unemployment through subsidized governmental agencies and regimentation of (continued on page 8)

Former Wilmet

Educator Dies

Founder of Wilmet H. S. Passes Away in Wausau, Wis.

Word has just reached Wilmet of the recent death in Green Bay of Anton P. Minsart, 68, one of the founders of the Wilmet High school. He was a public school teacher in Wisconsin for 37 years, and for 18 years prior to his retirement in 1936, he headed the science department of Wausau high school and taught chemistry. He was also principal of the Blue River and Oakwood schools.

In 1903 Mr. Minsart came to Wilmet as a teacher and remained until 1907.

In 1905, the first graduating class composed of seven students left the school with Mr. Minsart as principal. Also in that year, the group of graduates at the suggestion and assistance of Mr. Minsart, decided to form an alumni organization in order to relive their school days and keep in touch with the school.

After four years of teaching, two of which were spent as principal, Mr. Minsart left Wilmet for Wausau. However, he returned to the Wilmet High school and taught in 1917-1918. At this time he left here for good and taught again in Wausau.

It will be open to skaters of all ages, the Recreation department announces. Persons who do not wish to skate but are interested in watching are invited to be present as spectators.

Beacon relay races, cross tag, pom-pom-pull-away, chain tag, tandem races, chariot races and chair races are some of the events to be staged.

It is also hoped that time will permit a few fast races and some figure skating demonstrations.

Blue, red and white ribbons will be awarded by the judges to the winners of first, second and third places.

Cold Weather Keeps Garage Workers Busy

Constant Calls for Tow Service Are Received Wednesday, Thursday

While winter sports lovers greeted the cold spell last week with considerable enthusiasm, there were other persons who were distinctly annoyed.

Among them were several hundred motorists of the Antioch vicinity who found that weakened batteries, frozen radiators and kindred inconveniences accompanied a drop in temperature that ranged as low as minus 22.

Antioch garagemen and station attendants were kept "on the run" by calls of stalled motorists who needed to be towed into garages or to have their motors thawed out. Drivers of wreckers and tow cars "met themselves coming" day and night from Wednesday until Friday morning. One garage reported that its tow truck was "on the go" continuously from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Thursday, and had scant time for rest throughout the cold spell.

Thirty-five cars were towed in by another garage within a short period at the height of the cold spell. In some instances automobiles had been stalled by snow or had slid off the road. The majority of calls, however, came from drivers unable to get their cars started.

Varying number of calls, from four or five to eight, ten or 15 were reported by outlying garages, and service stations.

Comparatively few of these were accident calls, the garagemen stated, although in a few instances icy roads were the causes of minor accidents.

Schools Remain Open

Antioch Grade school and Antioch Township High school both remained open, although many schools in surrounding cities were closed for a day or two. Small decreases in attendance were noticed here during the coldest days, but the size of the classes was not appreciably affected.

Reports on how cold weather hit other communities revealed that the DesPlaines Elementary school suspended classes Thursday; grade schools in Woodstock were closed on Friday; Lake Geneva reported official temperature reading of -25 at Yerkes Observatory Thursday morning. From Lake Geneva, White-water, Burlington and other towns to the north and west came word of many motorists being obliged to abandon their stalled cars and stay at farmhouses over night.

Bus transportation was also hampered by the cold and snow, it was stated.

Donations For Red Cross Truck Are Received

Would Be Used Wherever Called, Antioch Squad Announces

Several donations have already been made for the purchase of a Red Cross truck for Antioch's rescue squad, according to Fire Chief James Stearns, chairman of the committee for the Lakes region.

Donors include the following: Herman Holbek, Antioch.....$5.00
A. K. Mueller, The Roundup 1.00
Walter Hills, Antioch.....1.00
Art. Rosenfeldt, Antioch.....1.00

Antioch's rescue squad, composed of volunteers who are certified graduates of advanced as well as regular Red Cross training courses, answers all calls at all times, and already has had several rescues to its credit.

It has co-operated with other Red Cross units in road patrol work on holidays, and has placed its services at the disposal of all Red Cross units that may wish its assistance.

To Go Where Needed

In the event a rescue truck is purchased, the local Red Cross squad will follow the same policy as that of the Kenosha unit, which answers all calls, the Antioch men announce. The Antioch squad does not propose to limit its services to one locality or region, but will go where needed, its members state. It also plans to follow its present policy of adding to and improving (continued on page 5)

Liberty and License

Your greatest inheritance as an American is freedom—freedom from tyranny, freedom to live your own life.

We in America must stand guard continually to protect this birthright. If we relax our watchfulness, liberty may be abused and then put to destructive purposes.

In every community, we have a homely analogy to the destructive power of dictators, of liberty gone to license. Fire, with its tremendous usefulness to man, is a good element while kept in its role of servant. But when misused and permitted to break out of bounds, it becomes a raging demon of destruction, a tyrannical master—a dictator!

America is not at war but it has its heartrending casualty lists. Our citizens need fortitude to face the facts of fire losses. Each year 10,000 persons lose their lives in fires, and 10,000 more are seriously injured. The direct property loss amounts to hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

Dictators maintain their power by keeping their countrymen uninformed. When the truth becomes known, the dictator soon loses his ability to sway the masses.

Again, an analogy can be drawn to fire, for this element is best controlled and kept in its place as a servant through knowledge and watchfulness. People who take the trouble to inform themselves about common fire hazards and safe building methods, rarely suffer the catastrophe of fire. For such people there are a number of sources of information: their local fire chief, the state inspection bureau, their insurance agent, and the National Board of Fire Underwriters in New York City.

The Individual Versus the State

"The history of government is the history of two conflicting principles: one is the supreme importance of the state; the other is the supreme importance of the individual," said Wendell L. Willkie recently. "Either the people have believed that the state was merely the voluntary creation of individual citizens, responsible to them and designed principally to protect their liberties; or else they have believed that the state was an authority in its own right to which individuals were subject and which could demand of them the suppression of their own desires and talents. The individual versus the state—that is the theme which more than any other has determined the course of civilization."

In the tangled years since the World War this eternal struggle between the individual and the state has become more intense, more bitter, more conclusive. The ancient rights and liberties of millions of people, citizens of great nations, have been ruthlessly abrogated. Statism has been made into a new religion, and the man at the head of the state has become a new god. The clock has been turned back centuries—those humanitarian, social and cultural values men fought for through the generations, have been at least temporarily destroyed.

Few of us have realized that in our own country there are those, traveling under various disguises, whose purpose is to elevate the state and to subdue the individual. Few of us have realized that dictatorship can come slowly and insidiously as well as swiftly and brutally—and that basic rights may be destroyed before we know we have lost them.

This is the greatest issue that any nation can face. Either we are to maintain democracy, and all that democracy means—free enterprise, free speech, the rights of free men to act freely as their energies and ambitions dictate—or we are to let democracy die. There can be no compromise, no middle ground. No American could do a finer thing than to passionately resolve that in this nation at least the state shall continue to exist for the people—not the people for the state.

Statesmanship Above Politics

The present Congress is faced with a great opportunity. That opportunity is to put statesmanship above politics.

We have entered the new year in the midst of a strong upward trend in business. Whether that trend continues or not, is largely up to Congress. It will, if Congress works with and for business, and considers proposed legislation in the light of its effect on industries which provide America with jobs, opportunities, and purchasing power. It will not, if we have another Congress given to business baiting. We have had more than our share of Congresses of the latter type, and all you need to do to see the havoc they have wrought is to look at the record of the last nine tragic years.

The people will soon have an opportunity to find out whether Congress really wants orderly business recovery—or whether it puts political considerations above all else.

JESUS DRAMATICALLY PROCLAIMS HIS MESSIAHSHIP

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 21:1-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Behold, thy King cometh unto thee.—Matthew 21:5.

The official presentation of Himself to the Jewish people as their King, their rejection of Him, and what was even more solemnly meaningful, His rejection of the Hebrew nation because of unbelief—such are the stirring events which face us as we enter with our Lord into the last week of His earthly life. The first event in that sequence is the one we study in our lesson for today, namely, the coming of the King to Jerusalem. Jesus on this occasion did a very dramatic and unusual thing, a fact which indicates that here is an incident of extraordinary import to which we do well to give careful study.

I. Preparation and Presentation (vv. 1-7).

The King comes, but even in His hour of royal triumph He gives to His followers the unexplainable but inestimable joy of meeting His need.

1. "The Lord Hath Need" (vv. 1-4). He had need of disciples who would do His bidding without question or hesitation—"and the disciples went, and did even as Jesus had appointed them" (v. 6). How precious is such obedience! Let us also go and do what He commands.

He needed the colt and the ass. How simple and lowly was that need, and yet how glorious that a man was ready to meet it! God's plans are worked out in the little things as well as the great. Prophecy was being fulfilled here (see v. 5) by a little thing. Is God waiting to carry out some great purpose through some little thing which you are withholding from Him? Why hinder Him any longer?

2. "Behold Thy King Cometh" (vv. 5-7). Though He did not come with the pomp and trappings of an earthly potentate, the King of Glory came to His people to offer them for the last time the opportunity to receive Him. He asks you to yield your life to His kingship. What will your answer be?

II. Acceptance and Rejection (vv. 8-11, 15, 16).

1. "The Multitude . . . Cried . . . Hosanna" (vv. 8-11). The fact that before the week was over many of the same voices cried, "Crucify Him!" should not obscure the fact that there were childlike believers (v. 16) who really had faith in Christ. There is something inspiring about that picture of enthusiasm and devotion. Real faith in Christ ought to result in a fervor of spirit which will stir our hearts and our cities. Are we not altogether too dead and formal in much of our worship today? Do we not need more holy enthusiasm for Christ and for His Church?

2. "The Chief Priests and Scribes . . . Were Sore Displeased" (vv. 15, 16). Small wonder, for not only had the children put them to open shame by recognizing the Christ whom they had ignored, but He had in turn ruined their polite religious racket which produced for them such a lovely profit. Mark this—when anyone is displeased with Jesus or with His true children or with His work on earth, you can be sure that there is a reason, and not a holy, upright or good reason either!

III. Judgment and Compassion (vv. 12-14).

What a remarkable picture! In the midst of flaming judgment and destruction we find loving compassion upon the blind and the lame. Folk who think that Christ has no message but love need to look on Him as He cleanses the temple. On the other hand, those who think that He has no word but judgment need to behold Him as He stands in the midst of the overturned tables and debris and heals the needy. Inconsistent? Not at all. God is love, but He is also absolute holiness.

1. "Jesus Cast Out . . . and Overthrew" (vv. 12, 13). He knew where to begin to cleanse the city. He started in the temple. Absolutely right is the man who suggested that the place to start to clean up a city is not in the slums but in the churches. You will be ready to clean out the tavern or that other low place where the gang hangs out in your town after you have cleaned out the church. The same is true of the individual. A regenerated heart will bring a reformed life, not vice versa.

2. "He Healed Them" (v. 14). The very hands which had just overturned the tables and cast out the money-changers now gently touched the lame and the blind with healing. The eyes which had blazed with holy indignation now shone with love and compassion. The scene of judgment and chaos became the house of prayer and of answered prayer. On the very spot where one man had received condemnation, another received healing. Each one received that which he sought by his action. How will you, my dear reader, meet Jesus—as your Judge or as your Saviour? You must make the choice.

Would Test New Rifle on Russian Bear

In order to test the effectiveness of the U. S. army's sensational new Garand rifle, Rep. John D. Dingell of Michigan introduced a bill which provided for the sale of 10,000 of the rifles to Finland—at a cost of one dollar each. The Garands cost approximately $1,000 apiece to manufacture. Representative Dingell is pictured in Washington—drawing a bead with a Garand rifle. The bill also provided for the sale of ammunition to Finland—at cost.

Former Champ Shows 'Em How He Did It

Is It Old Enough?—That's the Question

State inspectors make an outdoor examination of Florida grapefruit to see if it meets all requirements. Under strict maturity regulations, no fruit can be shipped from the state if it falls below maturity standards. As soon as the inspectors are finished, and the fruit approved, pickers can go to work.

Typical school scene showing copious amounts of milk being consumed . . . all of which helps to keep growing boys and girls healthy and happy.

Foundation Increases Milk Consumption

Over 325,000 quarts of milk are consumed every day by Chicago school children, according to Carl F. Deysenroth, manager of the Milk Foundation, the educational foundation organized by members of the Pure Milk Association together with their cooperating dealers.

Carl F. Deysenroth

"In the four school systems, over half a million boys and girls consume a daily average of 2.45 glasses each," states Mr. Deysenroth, "and our studies show that boys drink just a bit more than girls, as their average is 2.7 glasses against an average of 2.2 glasses for the girls. Thus, as nutrition authorities urge all growing children to consume at least a quart of milk each day, it is possible to increase the amount of milk in just this one group more than 200,000 quarts daily—or 144,000,000 pounds of milk annually!"

The Milk Foundation has carried on educational work with teachers and students for several years and the number of requests for literature on milk has grown from 4,000 to more than 26,000 annually. Each school grade receives special material designed to fit in with the other subjects studied. About fifty different projects are furnished during each school year.

"This educational work is of the greatest value not only to the producers of milk, the dairy farmers, but to the public as well," says Mr. Deysenroth. "As the farmers sell more milk, their buying power increases and their community benefits. The consumer benefits too in the greater health derived from an adequate consumption of fresh Grade A milk."

The work of the Foundation is planned to reach all consuming groups as well as those of school age. Special work is being done to increase the amount of fresh milk used in infant feeding. Work with large manufacturing concerns employing thousands of men and women is a definite part of the education program and of course, the housewife comes in for her share as well. Annually, more than 14,000 women are reached directly through cooking schools sponsored by the Foundation.

Regarding the increase in milk consumption, Mr. Deysenroth has this to say: "Our records have shown increases as high as 85% in the amount of milk consumed by boys and girls following an educational project furnished by the Foundation. This indicates the splendid results possible in building for greater fresh milk volume with its resultant higher health standard."

Mr. Deysenroth hails from Columbus, Wisconsin, which is located in one of the largest milk producing counties in the nation. Upon leaving the University of Wisconsin, he specialized in food advertising, creating campaigns for many nationally known products. He has the distinction of having won the International Award for cooperative milk educational work for four consecutive years and has developed many new promotion methods for increasing fresh milk consumption.

The Youth in Business

By C. E. Johnston

Dean, Schools of Business
International Correspondence Schools

BUSINESS and industry will always have need for young men and young women who can find better ways of doing jobs. It is often a good plan for the person who wishes to obtain a worthwhile position in a particular company to seek a minor or routine job in the first instance. The routine methods and procedures found in any firm can always be improved and, therefore, brains and intelligence pay large dividends when employed in routine work.

Opportunity is not dead. During the new year there will be an improved market for brains, intelligence, and knowledge. Before seeking a job, however, the young person should study himself and determine just what he has to offer. He should then build a sales campaign to sell himself. He should bear in mind that some firms can only use certain types of talent, whereas other businesses require different abilities and he should, therefore, concentrate his energies on seeking a type of position for which he is suited.

Thousands and thousands of jobs will be filled in 1940, but the person looking for a position must remember that there is no substitute for knowledge and ability. The applicant for a job may have to complete new aptitude tests and fill out more elaborate questionnaires than ever before, but in the end it will be the intelligent and trained person who gets the position.

Every day in the year your family will find more reading pleasure from one of these splendid offers. Here's a great money-saving opportunity to get really famous magazines never before offered with our newspaper. Make your selection and subscribe today.

BIRTHS

From Oak Park comes word of the birth of a son, Peter Henry, to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Zalatoris, on Jan. 19. Mrs. Zalatoris before her marriage was Miss Maybelle Einfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Einfield. Peter is their first child.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Christenson of Antioch community are the parents of a daughter born Thursday, January 18, at St. Therese hospital in Waukegan.

Robert C. Abt of Antioch testifies to the comfort and convenience of winter air travel following his trip to New York last week via the American Airlines. Leaving the Chicago Municipal Airport Tuesday in a blinding snowstorm, Abt was whisked to the eastern metropolis on a giant Douglas liner in what is thought to be record time, due to a stiff west tailwind which enabled the craft to attain a speed in excess of 240 miles per hour. The trip was made in three hours and twenty-four minutes. The best railroad time between the two cities is 17 hours. The snowstorm was a "ground" condition, Abt said, as flying weather aloft was ideal.

"LADIES' DAY" AT WAHOO CLUB

The ladies took all the prizes Sunday night at the weekly meeting of the Wahoo club held at Culbertson's home, and "Bob" Seelhoff, who is a gentleman, put off his revenge until next time. But somehow, after hearing of the disappearance of "Trevor," the Culbertson's pet black cat, we've been wondering—Is Bob the superstitious sort? Not that we're intimating anything, but was "Trevor" ever around during those times when Bob was being "Took"? I'd look into this, if I were you, Jim!

MRS. L. P. YOPP ENTERTAINS HIHO CLUB

The HiHo pinocle club met at the home of Frieda Yopp last week and Sybil Steiskal and Elsie Steitz were the prize winners. Frieda, who always does things right, served the girls a lovely HOT luncheon. The thermometer reading 26° below zero, she undoubtedly thought it would be most appropriate, but somehow her efforts weren't accepted in the manner they deserved—or WERE they? At least, the members didn't mind the cold any more afterwards—in fact they all went outdoors to cool off! This week, Sybil Steiskal is playing hostess to the club, and she has promised to serve a nice cool luncheon, zero weather or not.

The intense cold weather last week made it necessary to close the school Thursday and Friday. This week quite a number of pupils are absent with colds.

The 26° below zero weather did considerable damage throughout the vicinity with many reports of frozen pipes, which cracked and broke in many instances, and several taverns reported cases of pop, etc., broken after freezing solid over night. Beer may have alcohol in it, but even that (in bottles) was found frozen solid.

Mrs. Carl Wood, who is working at Lindenhurst farm, spent a few days this week visiting her daughter, Mrs. Joe Anzinger.

Mrs. James Craig has returned home with her infant son, who has been named James Mupir Craig.

its already valuable first aid equipment. Recent additions to the equipment include a full set of traction splints that are expected to prove of great value in aiding accident victims who may suffer from broken bones, in the event they have to be moved.

Such equipment would have proved especially valuable in the case of such accidents as one in a nearby community in which a patient who suffered a broken leg in a fall on ice could not be moved for nearly two hours, until a physician was summoned and manufactured makeshift splints, it was pointed out by a local doctor who inspected the Antioch squad's new set of traction splints.

Co-operate with Doctors

Antioch squad's work is carried on in co-operation with local physicians and physicians of other communities, and is under U. S. supervision.

The Antioch rescue squad, which was launched under the sponsorship of the Antioch fire department, plans to enlarge its staff in the near future, and the possibilities of conducting a regular Red Cross course here have been considered recently.

The present members of the squad are qualified to give such a course, graduates of which would be given their examinations by Red Cross supervisors under the auspices of the national organizations.

"Guard Against Fire Dangers," Chief Warns

Over-heated Pipes and Furnaces Are Menace, Says Stearns

"Early morning when you first fire up for the day, and evening, when you fix the fire before going to bed, seem to be the 'danger times' for conflagrations these cold days, so be especially on your guard then," warns Chief James Stearns of the Antioch fire department.

"Most of our fire calls these days seem to come in the early morning or in the evening," the chief points out, "and over-heated stoves and pipes appear to be the principal causes." The chief also urged people to be careful about the methods used in thawing frozen pipes, as another source of danger, and not to attempt to get a fire to burn up in too much of a hurry. Frequent inspections of heating plants, flues and pipes should be made by householders, he emphasized.

Two Calls Sunday

The Antioch fire department was called out twice Sunday. At 7 p. m. the firemen were summoned to the home of John Radtke on Grass Lake road, opposite Thorne's store, where timbers under the fireplace were burning. Damages of $75 to the building were covered by insurance. The department had received a call to the same home six weeks ago when a partition caught fire as frozen pipes were being thawed.

Sunday morning the firemen received a call to the Ed Faulkner home near Kriebel's subdivision, where $10 damages to a chair and rug, from a cigarette, were reported.

An over-heated stove pipe that set a ceiling afire was named as the cause of a call to the Charles Wilton house just south of town, Friday at 7 p. m. Damages to the house, which is occupied by the Zender family, totaled $10.

Antioch vs. Grant To Be Highlight at First Homecoming

Dance Will Be Held in H. S. Auditorium After Basketball Game

Strengthened by the return of Johnny Blackman, flashy veteran forward, the Antioch Sequoits will endeavor to snap their one-game losing streak Friday night when Grant High school invades the Sequoia reservation.

As an added attraction the Antioch Sequoits will celebrate their first homecoming with various acts and entertainment throughout the evening. Immediately following the basketball games a gigantic dance will be held in the school auditorium. The highlight of the dance will be the crowning of the homecoming queen. The admission to the basketball games has been reduced to 15 and 25 cents. The first game will start promptly at 7:30. Sequoits Nosed out by Ela

In a hard-fought game with a thrilling climax the Antioch Sequoits were defeated 23-22 by an inspired Ela quintet last Friday night.

From the start it could easily be seen that it would be a "scorcher." At the half way mark the Sequoits were on the long end of a 9-5 score.

The second half opened with Gleason, Ela guard, pitching in 3 straight field goals from beyond the white line. But Antioch returned the compliment as Harvey and Hawkins both counted from action. Then Ela came back strong and tied the score, and with but 10 second to play with Antioch 1 point in the lead Knigge of Ela.

dropped in a beautiful arched long shot from beyond the free throw circle. From there on it was no go as the Sequoits failed to knot the score and the gun sounded with Ela in possession of the ball.

Jimmy Lawler played Cousin Webster, the bootlegging banker, in a dignified looking black coat that originally was worn by an undertaker in Minneapolis in about 1870 (we think it was Minneapolis, and it looked as though it dated earlier than 1870).

Mr. Lawler informed us later that the coat is warmly made—and he enjoyed playing his part, although as he assured the shocked Al, his bootlegging business associate, he "never touched a drop in his life!"

(This line is said to have drawn more laughs when the show played Richmond, Ill., than did Al's awed rejoinder—"Do you mean to tell me you went into the bootlegging business merely to make money—and not for the love of good liquor?")

Dorothy LaVerne played the part of "Ma," still in love with the Old Soak, who finds her faith justified after many years of patient understanding.

Emile Conley had the part of the spoiled son, through whom Cousin Webster gains possession of the coveted bonds. Ruby Lang was seen as the daughter; Jimmy Parsons as her "young man"; Jule Townsend as the actress with whom the son has fallen in love, and Ducky Vernon as the hired girl who finds that Peter, the parrot, likes his liquor. Ken Lang was the off-stage "voice" of Johnny Peters, the constable, who unknowingly helps Cousin Webster make up his mind, the right way in a crisis.

The roles were all well taken and creditably played.

This evening the troupe is giving "His Temporary Wife," a comedy, on the stage of the Crystal.

The part of the "old soak," a good-natured, no-account fellow who almost breaks the heart of the wife who loves

If medals are in order for folks who get out in considerably below-zero weather in order that "the show" may go on, the J. B. Rotnour company deserves a medal for its presentation of that well-loved melodrama, "The Old Soak," here last Thursday evening.

Although they might have been excused for calling off the whole thing (the Crystal was less than one-fourth full), the players braved the chill that penetrated to the stage and went through their scenes with a gusto belying the fact that they could see their very breaths before them.

The audience, comparatively comfortable in the main part of the theater and with the additional privilege of wrapping their coats around them should a stray breeze come their way, found the performance an enjoyable one.

The part of the "old soak," a good-natured, no-account fellow who almost breaks the heart of the wife who loves him, but wins back the affection and respect of all before the play is over—was played with considerable ability by Jimmy LeRoy. Mr. LeRoy's "Old Soak" was natural, likeable—and believable.

Some of his best scenes included that with Al, the ex-bartender (Art Vernon), in which they debated the merits of various recipes for mixing drinks—but refrained from trying them so as not to spoil the liquor; the one in which he extracted the ten thousand dollars for "Ma's" stock from "Cousin Webster," and the minor touch of blackmail at the extreme end when he receives "a little present" from Cousin Webster's bootlegging business.

The Youth in Business

By C. E. Johnston

DOES secretarial work offer opportunities to men? The answer unquestionably is yes. Many executives prefer male secretaries. Men, when necessary, stand the strain of long hours of work under trying conditions. They are not greatly given to fits of temperament or easily upset because the boss is irritable or unappreciative. They intend to make business their career and, therefore, are likely to take an interest in every detail of their employers' work.

There is a shortage of male secretaries. Why is this the case? The answer is that the first step in becoming a secretary is the acquiring of the ability to take and transcribe dictation quickly and accurately. Few men today become proficient in shorthand and typewriting. They are apt to think that the study of stenography is only for women. This is a mistake. The ability to take notes rapidly and to operate a typewriter is almost invaluable in both business and private life.

The salaries of private secretaries whether men or women are high and to men at least the position opens many opportunities for advancement. Secretaries to executives themselves become executives with such titles as assistant to the president or assistant to the vice president. Because of their knowledge of the details of the business they are often given high positions in other departments.

WHEN the last United States census was taken it was found that there were over 4,000,000 people employed in clerical or office work of one kind or another. The number of bookkeepers, cashiers, and accountants increased from 486,700 in 1910 to 930,648 in 1930. There were 316,963 stenographers and typists in the United States in 1910. In 1930 the number was 811,190.

Office work is an attractive field for the young man or woman about to enter business. The number of persons employed in offices increases from year to year. Hours of work are short, working conditions good, and salaries generally satisfactory. Machines and special equipment have largely done away with office drudgery and in future will make the office an even more pleasant place in which to work.

Nevertheless, let no one get the idea that it is easy for the young man or woman who has some general education but no specific training to obtain an office position today. The modern office must be operated economically. Applicants for positions before they are given consideration must be able to answer such questions as—What can you do? What service can you perform that this office needs? Persons, however, who have some training in bookkeeping and accounting, in secretarial studies, in typing, in stenography, in the methods of operating various types of office machines, or in the indexing and filing of correspondence and company records, can seek employment confident that their applications will be given respectful attention.

YOUNG persons about to enter business fall into two broad classes: Those who have a definite aptitude for a particular field of work and should if at all possible find positions in this or related fields; and those who are adaptable and who may within certain limits fill a variety of positions equally well. The latter type of man or woman should consider fields of endeavor which are not well known and in which there is, therefore, a relative scarcity of well trained workers. Before a person seriously considers such a field, however, he should make sure that there are sources of training available to supplement the instruction which will be received on the job. Traffic management may be mentioned as an example of this type of work.

Industrial and commercial organizations of all kinds employ traffic men to deal with transportation companies and to assure that adequate transportation services are available at rates that are reasonable and technically correct. These traffic men must know the kinds of services rendered by all types of carriers.

Traffic men are also employed by transportation companies to obtain shipments of goods to be transported, to deal with rate and traffic problems, and to attend to traffic matters that are brought before state regulatory commissions, the Interstate Commerce Commission, and other federal administrative bodies engaged in transportation regulation.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS BY JOSEPH W. LaBINE

Congress Tears Budget Apart: Defense Fund May Be Raised But Other Items Are Slashed

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union

CONGRESS:

Mutilation

After almost a month of argument it appeared that congress would grant Franklin Roosevelt his $1,800,000,000 defense budget for 1941, but the price would be (1) drastic slashes in all other items and (2) a boost in the $45,000,000,000 national debt limit. In both house and senate, four out of five committeemen kept one eye on the purse strings. The other was cocked carefully toward the constituents back home, who are more concerned about economy than pork barrels, even in an election year.

One warning came from Budget Director Harold D. Smith, who told all federal agencies to start training for a smaller diet next year.

WOODRING AND STARK
They'll win; others will lose.

He threatened to be "plenty tough" on requests for deficiency appropriations. Another came from house appropriations committeemen who threatened to cut a proposed $25,000,000 farm tenancy fund from the agriculture department's budget. But actions spoke louder than threats.

Out from the appropriations committee came a badly mutilated independent offices bill, usually the catch-all for pork barrel items. It was $94,492,166 below the President's budget estimate. Gone were all funds for the national resources planning board and the office of government reports. Cut drastically were items for the executive office and the maritime commission. Nor did the house backslide on its appropriations committee; next day, having shouted down $22,000,000 in pork-barrel requests, it passed the bill almost exactly as reported by the committee.

Meanwhile the army and navy were getting better treatment. Admiral Harold D. Stark, chief of naval operations, told the house naval committee that he hoped to complete a $2,276,000,000 building program by 1945. Across the street, Secretary of War Harry Woodring told the house military committee about deficiencies in critical ordnance.

Fond congressional hope, obviously, is to raise the extra $400,000,000 for national defense without imposing election-year taxes. But there still remains the $800,000,000 (originally $1,300,000,000) naval program, suggested not by the President but by Georgia's Rep. Carl Vinson. If this carries, no economies can stop the national debt short of its present limit.

Also in congress:
Mourned was the fate that befell congress' senior statesman, Idaho's 74-year-old Sen. William E. Borah. While house and senate office buildings kept an ear cocked for news, the man who had served the senate 33 years lay close to death in his Rock Creek Park apartment, victim of a cerebral hemorrhage following a fall.

Vice President Jack Garner, whose opposition usually means certain death to any proposal, barked against a military loan to beleaguered Finland. So had the President, for his recommendation of a $50,000,000 loan through the Export-Import bank was strictly for non-military purposes. However, since the Finns wanted money for munitions only, their cause seemed lost. Still arguing for continuation of the reciprocal trade act, the administration sent Undersecretary of Commerce Edward Noble and Assistant Secretary of State Henry F. Grady to testify before the house ways and means committee. Defense of the act itself completed, the state department next turned its guns on the senate's plan to seek ratification power over all trade treaties.

The senate foreign relations committee agreed to survey the entire field of U. S.-Japanese relations, including proposed embargoes against Japan, after the abrogated trade pact expires.

EUROPE: The Belligerents

Britain's war consisted of (1) a factory explosion; (2) a reported railroad sabotage plot; (3) a fiery defense in commons of Prime Minister Chamberlain's action ousting War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha; and (4) the slaying of Britain's first German on the western front.

France's war featured (1) expulsion from the chamber of deputies of all pro-Stalin Communists; (2) news of a "plot" to aid Hitler, and (3) a verbal battle with Berlin, where France was accused of backing down on its promise not to interfere with German expansion in eastern Europe.

It was not so quiet for the Finns. For five successive days Russian planes defied temperatures ranging down to 51 degrees below zero, bombing Helsinki, Hango and other cities mercilessly. Though they might be poor soldiers, the

SWEDISH VOLUNTEER
"Now it is your duty..."

Russians proved themselves persistent in the far-north Salla sector. Forty thousand of them staged a new drive, only to be routed.

The Neutrals

"Now the world knows what it is to be a Finn. Now it is your duty to show what it means to be a Swede. Make up your mind now. Join the Swedish Volunteer Army, With Finland for Sweden!"

This advertisement in a Stockholm newspaper was one answer to Russia's order that Scandinavia stop sending aid to Finland. Richard J. Sandler, ex-Swedish foreign minister, demanded that his nation send troops to defend the Finnish Aaland islands.

Though both the allies and Germany tried to remain aloof from this Scandinavian-Russian spat, they were undoubtedly being drawn into it. One reason was the continued sniping at each other's iron ore shipments coming out of Sweden.

While tension grew here, it lessened in Netherlands and Belgium, which only a few days earlier had ordered complete mobilization in fear of a Nazi invasion. But there was still a chance that Germany and Russia would try to confound their foes and hostile neutrals alike with lightning-like blows at both the Lowlands and Scandinavia.

Italy, watching over the Balkans like a mother hen, heard a warning from Rome to be ready for war "at any moment." Still on the fence, Il Duce countered Britain's renewed wooing with a warning that Italians should not be too greatly impressed by "recent demonstrations of international sympathy."

COMMERCE—Shipments of air-planes, petroleum and metals to the allies boosted U. S. exports in December to $358,000,000—the largest for any month in almost 10 years.

COTTON—Postponed for February, March and April was Britain's end of her barter agreement with the U. S., under which American cotton is exchanged for British rubber. Reason: Britain needs her ships for other purposes.

CANADA—Ontario's legislature adopted 44 to 10 a measure criticizing the Canadian government for "inefficient" handling of the war.

JAPAN—Backed by commercial interests, the Japanese government has clamped down on domestic silk production to maintain an unvarying amount of raw silk for export.

DISASTERS:

Turkey Again

Last December at least 30,000 died when earthquakes and floods hit north central Turkey. About the same time 1,500 more died in the flooded western plains. Late January brought still more tragedy to a nation whose international diplomatic woes are legion. A second major earthquake killed 50 and injured 160 more in the Nigde district, 200 miles southwest of the first quake area. Luckily, such blows were cushioned by French-British friendship. Available to the Ankara government was some $340,000,000 in loans and credits, Turkey's "price" for keeping the strategic Dardanelles open to allied warships.

(This loan, to be repaid partly through British imports of Turkish tobacco, prompted the government to ban imports of U. S. tobacco. Mourning at the news, American grocers found themselves deprived overnight of an export market running between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000 a year.)

DEFENSE:

Mock Warfare

From San Francisco south to Santa Barbara, troops awaited an attempt by the navy to land an attacking force of 8,000 men. Meanwhile the Caribbean sea buzzed as marines, troops and some 20 warships of the Atlantic squadron staged a mock war.

POLITICS:

Call to Duty

"I realize what it means to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for President—what it means in responsibility, hard work, in sacrifice. Yet it is a call to duty no citizen can ignore. My answer is yes."

Thus did Frank Gannett, Rochester, N. Y., publisher, toss his hat into a ring already cluttered with Tafts, Bridges, and Deweys. All he had waited for was a bid, and that came from the Young Republican Club of Indiana. Unless he gains tremendous strength, few observers expect Candidate Gannett to make much of a showing nationally. But his candidacy does presage a knock-down-and-drag-out fight for New York's 92 Republican convention votes, wanted also by Manhattan's District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

Meanwhile another prospective candidate was given his camera test: Wendell L. Wilkie, president of Commonwealth & Southern corporation. At New York 400 sales executives applauded him. Said Dr. Paul Nystrom, president of the Limited Price Variety Stores association: "We could expect great improvement with gathering momentum if we had a man running for President like our distinguished guest, Mr. Wilkie."

Said Mr. Wilkie: Nothing. Franklin Roosevelt was meanwhile gaining strength for a third term. Florida's Sen. Claude Pepper promised his state's 14 delegates would support the President or any man of his choice, although they would go to the convention without official instructions. From Ohio came word that its Democratic delegates would also be in the Roosevelt camp if their favorite son, Sen. Vic Donahey, failed to develop. Both Democratic and Republican national committees were soon to meet, naming times and places for their nominating conventions.

GANNETT
"Yes."

Final Russo-German Splitup of Polish Pie

Creation of a puppet Polish state under Berlin domination is expected shortly as the final step in that doomed nation's division between Germany and Russia. Small area whose fate is still undecided probably will become a corral for German and Polish Jews, who will be forced to seek refuge there.

She Really Can't Be That Surprised

William P. Buckner Jr., wealthy playboy who was convicted in a bond fraud but who is still at large pending his appeal, enjoys himself in a New York night club. His seemingly startled partner for the evening is Adelaide Moffett, society songstress. According to various gossip columns, they are soon to wed. But that had nothing to do with her odd pose.

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

FRESH rosy peaches baked with canned unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice and sugar, served hot with a dash of powdered mace or a sprinkling of grated nutmeg will add a special fillip to the meat course, especially if roast chicken is the piece de resistance. Or try them for dessert, minus the spice, serving with thin cream instead or hard sauce flavored with nutmeg or mace.

Prepare the peaches this way: Pour boiling water over eight firm but ripe peaches, rub off skins and place fruit close together in a baking dish. Sprinkle with one-half cup granulated sugar, pour over one-half cup pineapple juice, cover and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 20 minutes, then remove cover and allow fruit to brown slightly. Serve hot as suggested above.

This amount will make eight servings.

LABOR—Thanks partly to the current house committee probe, a Gallup poll showed most of the nation favors revision of the Wagner labor act. citizens. Eventually, the country's funds would be exhausted, nothing permanent would have been achieved, and the unemployment would still remain, because such projects can not be self-liquidating.

Of particular interest was President Heald's remarks regarding the research department at Armour Tech. There was designed and built the 35-ton snow cruiser for Admiral Richard Byrd, who took the monster machine on his trip to Antarctica. The cruiser received great publicity during its historic trip to Boston last fall.

A Million for Young Men

The Armour Institute was founded in 1892 by the late P. D. Armour, who was also founder of the great packing firm of Armour & company. Armour was said to have been inspired by a sermon by the late Rev. Frank Gunsaulus, pastor of the Plymouth church in Chicago. The eminent pastor told in his sermon what he would do if he had a million dollars, declaring that if he had that sum he would open a school to teach youth how to become self-sustaining and useful citizens. Armour supplied the million on condition that Rev. Gunsaulus give five years of his life to the institution. Thus was started what today is recognized as one of America's greatest technological institutions.

Armour Tech. is adequately endowed, and has an enrollment of over 7,000 day-and-evening students, and a faculty of between 350 and 400 members.

Heald Youngest President

The youthful president of the Institute won an enviable reputation in the engineering field before coming to the school in 1927.

His engineering experience covers many important projects, both public and private, among them—structural engineer for Chicago; designer of bridges for the I. C. railroad, and he also served as engineer in the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation in the state of Oregon. He was made president of the Armour Institute in 1938.

Guests Attend

Accompanying President Heald to Antioch was Ernest Kelly, who is also connected with Armour's. He is a brother of Clare Kelly of Antioch, who was also a guest of the Lions. Another guest was Earl Yates, Armour alumnus, now with the Electrical Reproduction Co.

Other guests at the meeting included the degree team from the Highland Park Lions club: Dr. J. A. Butterworth, Bob Pease, C. Moran, Paul Olson, Hans Bahr, Max Suess, A. Suitco, and Robert Roebber. Four new members were initiated: John Atkinson, William E. Brook, Howard Gaston and Roman Vos.

The business session was brief and was limited to the appointment of committees to formulate plans for the 1940 festival to be held here August 9, 10 and 11.

Wilmot Resident, Long Ill, Dies

John Wertz, 88, Succumbs; Burial Held in Fond du Lac

John Wertz, 88 years old, a resident of the village of Wilmot for the past three years, succumbed at the home of his son, William Wertz, in Wilmot shortly before midnight on Sunday following a long illness.

He was born in Buffalo, New York, Sept. 28, 1851, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Wertz. He spent his early life in New York state and was educated there. As a young man he moved to Fond du Lac, Wis., where he made his home for 50 years, coming to Wilmot three years ago to make his home with his son.

He was united in marriage to Elizabeth Christ, who preceded him in death on January 30, 1926.

Legion Helps Army in CMTC Enrollments

Local posts of the American Legion have been requested to cooperate with the Illinois department in furthering the enrollments for C. M. T. C. during the year 1940, according to information which has been received by Commander Clarence J. White of the Antioch Post, from Howard G. Wade, of Hinsdale, chairman of the Legion State C. M. T. C. committee.

"The American Legion has always been active in sponsoring enrollments of C. M. T. C.," Wade advised Commander White, "and for the coming year the three objectives of the American Legion will be to obtain sufficient money for the purpose of enabling every young man who is qualified to attend camp, and to extend the opportunity for training available each summer by the War Department to more enrollees this year, and then to recognize outstanding merit at camps by suitable awards."
